FINAL EDITION - PLEASE READ

Dear families and partners,

The Infant Death Center (IDC) was created more than 40 years ago through funding from the Department of Health Services Maternal and Child Health Title V block grant, to support families who find themselves in the unimaginable space of child loss. Children's Health Alliance of Wisconsin (the Alliance) has led the work of the IDC since 2010, serving as a resource for families and professionals.

Beginning in January 2023, a new organization will be providing grief support services. As of Dec. 31, 2022 the IDC will end operations and our staff will shift their focus to other initiatives led by the Alliance. Going forward, families will be directed to Star Legacy Foundation to connect with grief and bereavement services. Kelly Pulford will manage the program, and she can be reached at kelly@starlegacyfoundation.org.

The Alliance has been honored to provide these important resources to families in Wisconsin. I want to sincerely thank our partners, donors, and most of all our bereaved families for your ongoing support and relationship over the years. Your dedication to this important work has significantly impacted our reach and ability to provide valuable resources.

The Alliance will continue to work in other areas to improve: child health outcomes, health equity and access to quality services. Thank you for your ongoing partnership and dedication to this important initiative.

Sincerely,

Joanna O'Donnell
